

Abstract of the DisclosureA MEMORY ACCESS SYSTEM

A memory access system is described which generates two memory addresses from a single memory access instruction which identifies a register holding at least two packed objects. In the preferred embodiment, the contents of a base register is combined respectively with each of two or more packed objects in an offset register.

BEST AVAILABLE COPY
